

Karma

Dan Tappan

October 2020, April 2024, 3/4 time, no capo

There's a phrase from the sages come down through the ages
When Karma comes scratching at your cabin door
An answer to shamelessly blaming the stars:
"It is what it is, 'cause you are what you are"

Chorus:

It is, what it is 'cause you are what you are
A voice on the wind cries from afar
When the crows come to roost and the ship hits the bar
It is what it is, 'cause you are what you are

Building a tower of lies and deceit
'Til truth breaks the wall and it falls at your feet
Then taking a victory lap in your car
It is what it is, 'cause you are what you are

Though some say the future's determined,
By fate carving patterns in stone
There's forks in the road, your footprints reveal
The cracks and the faults are your own

Repeat Chorus

Sitting in court while your crimes are narrated:
Fraudulent schemes to conceal who you "dated"
Scowling and snoring and bombast bizarre
It is what it is, 'cause you are what you are

Repeat Chorus, end with

It is what it is, 'cause you are what you are
It is what it is, 'cause you are what you are
